American Command Post Attacked

U.S. Planes Drop Bombs On Suspected Cong Site

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabres dropped napalm bombs on a suspected Viet Cong mortar site tonight after the Communist mortar men attacked the command post of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division.

A U.S. military spokesman said there was no information available on casualties or damage caused by the mortars to the 25th Division command post which is near Cu Chi, 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

Elsewhere in the South, fighting slackened during the day, but U.S. airmen flew over typhoon winds and through monsoon rains to pound Communist targets north and south of the border.

The mortar shells started falling on the 25th Division base at Cu Chi shortly after sunset. There was no report of any casualties. First reports indicated that it was not a major attack but followed the pattern of other Viet Cong harassments on the doorsteps of Saigon in the past few days.

The guerrillas struck nine times in the Saigon area Monday, shelling and machine-gunning government militia posts and a refugee relocation center. More than 400 miles north of Saigon, U.S. Marines pursued the hunt for the battered survivors of the first full North Vietnamese division sent south, but made no contact with the slippery foe. Backtracking across the nearby 17th Parallel border or westward toward Laos, the Communists left behind 736 dead, the Marines reported.

The battle-debris and scarred terrain indicated the enemy toll may be far higher, officers said. With most of the Hanoi regulars of Division 324B apparently back across the border or in flight toward Laos, Air Force B52s flew over Typhoon Ora early today to bomb suspected Viet Cong jungle hideouts in the D Zone stronghold 80 miles northeast of Saigon.

Flying through low clouds and occasional thunderstorms, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots racked up 71 missions Monday over North Viet Nam. They hit nine fuel dumps and assorted bridge, rail and supply targets that took them within 20 miles of Hanoi.

Pilots reported half a dozen surface-to-air missiles were sent up against them around Hanoi, but no American losses were reported.

Marine pilots hit a suspected ammunition dump just north of the 17th Parallel on the Red supply route to the South. They reported 50 secondary explosions.

The typhoon, whipping across the Gulf of Tonkin toward North Viet Nam and Communist China, sharply curtailed plane launchings from 7th Fleet carriers. Instead of its usual 40 to 50 missions, the Navy was able to send off only nine against the Communist North.

In South Viet Nam, U.S. and South Vietnamese pilots flew a total of 487 single-plane strikes despite bad weather over much of the area.

In the Mekong Delta 78 miles west of Saigon a South Vietnamese militia force of 30 men fought off three times that number of Viet Cong early today.

The Viet Cong called off the attack when a flare plane lit up the predawn darkness. The platoon defending the hamlet of Kien Phong sustained only a few casualties, a spokesman said.

The sound of heavy artillery and air strikes also echoed across Saigon in an effort to forestall a further rise in Communist activity. An early morning allied barrage took aim at the jungles around Nha Be, the big oil dump 10 miles south of Saigon, and other likely guerrilla targets in the Saigon area. A U.S. military spokesman said the attacks were part of the continuing allied campaign to keep the enemy off balance.

Reverting to the hit-and-run methods they used before the massive U.S. military sweeps, the Viet Cong have been raking small government outposts near Saigon with mortar and machine-gun fire.

A U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabre jet fighter was shot down by the guerrillas 20 miles outside of Saigon, raising to 118 the number of American planes lost in combat in the South, exclusive of helicopters. The pilot was rescued.

The Nha Be fuel depot, largest in South Viet Nam, is regarded as specially vulnerable. Allied military men have been expecting a reprisal guerrilla strike at the big tanks since U.S. planes began hitting North

'Rights' Bill Foes Vow To Delay Vote

Leaders In House Hoping For Final Action This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House plunges into a second day of discussion on the civil rights bill today with Southern Democrats vowing to do all in their power to delay a final vote.

The opponents' quickly unfurled their delaying tactics Monday when the House opened consideration of the compromise legislation. House leaders said they hoped to reach a final vote by the end of the week, but they weren't optimistic. Numerous amendments are pending.

The bill reached the House floor via a new rule which limits to 21 days the time the House Rules Committee can delay legislation approved by other committees. The motion to bypass the Rules Committee carried by a 200-180 vote, with 180 Democrats and 20 Republicans supporting it and 75 Democrats and 105 Republicans against it.

That was sufficient indication that more trouble lay ahead, since some members who voted for consideration may vote against the bill if it isn't changed to their liking.

The most controversial provision is aimed at prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. It is directed primarily at real estate agents and builders and wouldn't affect homeowners who have fewer than two real estate transactions in one year.

The bill deals also with state and federal jury selection, and it prohibits interference with Negroes trying to vote, go to school, use public transportation or take part in legal demonstrations.

Opponents started dilatory tactics by demanding time-consuming roll calls to keep the necessary 100 members in the chamber. The roll calls are automatic when attendance drops below 100 and a member objects.

Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., opened the fight by trying to deal the bill a sudden-death blow. Williams, who was disciplined by House Democrats last year for supporting Republican Barry Goldwater for president, claimed the House Judiciary Committee report on the bill violated a rule that requires details of proposed changes in existing laws.

Speaker John W. McCormack held that there was substantial compliance with the rule and Williams dropped that argument.

Early today, Ella was about 350 miles east-northeast of San Juan and 150 miles north-northeast of Anguilla, Leeward Islands.

Probe Opened Stock Market On Violence Hits Lowest Level Of '66

Mayor, National Guard Commander Review Situation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury opens an investigation today of the riots and fire bombing that caused widespread damage and left four persons dead in Negro slums on Cleveland's East Side last week.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher and Maj. Gen. Erwin Hosteller, Ohio National Guard commander, set another meeting to review the situation and decide whether to reduce the force of 1,750 guardsmen who, with police, continue to patrol the Hough area and adjacent districts.

In calling the special grand jury session Monday, Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas J. Parrino said: "The seeds of these riotous acts are found in grave social injustice. Poverty produces enormous frustration. Violence, however, does not remedy any problem. It cannot be condoned."

He said the grand jury, whose foreman is Louis B. Seltzer, former editor of the Cleveland Press, will seek to find the immediate cause of the violence, suggest remedies to community problems and take "appropriate action where evidence of unlawful acts is discovered."

The jurors are expected to turn their attention to the shootings which killed four Negroes. Police said two white men charged in one shooting were members of a Murray Hill vigilante group formed because of fear that rioters might invade the area. Murray Hill is an Italian-American neighborhood several blocks southeast of Hough University Circle lies between the two districts.

Charged with second-degree murder were Patsy Sabella, 21, and Warren La Riche, 28, both pulling up to park on the city's North Side.

Air-Sea Hunt Widened For Gen. Stilwell

Green Beret Leader Missing In Pacific Since Early Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Ocean air-sea search for a missing C47 aircraft with Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr. aboard has expanded to cover an area of 165,000 square miles.

Stilwell, 54, commander of the U.S. Army's Green Beret troop training center, was copilot of the plane, en route to Thailand for use by that country's air force. The plane was last heard from early Sunday, about 500 miles out in the Pacific.

Stilwell intended to fly as far as Hawaii from San Francisco to increase his instrument rating as a pilot.

The plane's pilot was Hal Grimes, 45, a personal friend of the general and president of Air Ferry International of Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Grimes radioed Sunday that one engine had failed and the plane was returning to San Francisco. A Coast Guard plane sent to accompany the crippled aircraft arrived two hours later but found no trace of the plane.

Two Coast Guard cutters, 20 land-based planes, three destroyers and the aircraft carrier Yorktown participated in the search Monday. A 70,000-square-mile area was checked visually and with radar.

The search was enlarged north and south of the 700-mile-long, 100-mile-wide search area at nightfall.

Stilwell, commander of the Army's Special Warfare Training Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C., had been in San Francisco for speaking engagements.

His wife, who had accompanied him to San Francisco, waited at the Presidio Army (Turn to STILWELL, Page 9)

LBJ Feels Same Way, He Assumes

Mansfield Doubts Action By Senate Prior To Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today he believes the 19-day airline strike has created a national emergency warranting congressional intervention.

The Montana senator said he assumes President Johnson feels the same way.

But Mansfield told newsmen he doubts the Senate will act on any strike-stopping legislation before Thursday.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he thinks the Senate should act Wednesday on his bill to halt the walkout for six months—with provision for new congressional action if labor and management do not reach a contract agreement in 150 days. Morse had tried for even faster action.

But first, the administration will have to convince the Senate Labor Committee that the strike has created an emergency warranting congressional intervention.

The committee scheduled a hearing on the strike situation and suggested the administration send spokesmen for the Defense, Commerce, Labor and Post Office departments to discuss the impact of the walkouts.

Representatives of the striking AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and of the five struck airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — also were asked to testify.

The hearing was set for 1:30 p.m. EDT, on the 19th day of the strike which is costing the five airlines an estimated $7 million daily and their employees an estimated $1.6 million daily. The airlines say the strike has canceled 4,100 flights a day which normally carry about 154,000 passengers.

Morse said in an interview today's hearing "is to determine a question of fact: Is there an emergency to warrant emergency legislation?"

He said the answer is yes. And he added he fully expects an emergency declaration and strike-ending action.

"I am sure that the country will demand it," he said.

His measure would have Congress declare that "emergency measures are essential" to end the strike in the interests of national health.

Way Cleared In Buying Of Barn And Fill

Legislation necessary for the purchase of the old car barn in East End and for the purchase of 150 acres of land as the site for a new sanitary landfill was adopted by Council during a special meeting Monday night.

One ordinance authorizes Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to purchase the former Valley Motor Transit Co. property on Pennsylvania Ave. for $95,000, for use as a storage and maintenance building for all municipal rolling stock, as well as materials and supplies.

The other authorizes the director to purchase land on the Y & O Rd. near Rock Camp as the new landfill site for the disposal of garbage and trash. The site is located in Madison Township. The price $10,000.

Council also adopted ordinances providing for the issuance of notes in anticipation of the issuance of bonds on both projects. In both cases, the bonds will be redeemed in 10 annual installments.

Suspect In Mass Murder

Decision By Grand Jury Expected In Speck Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cook County state's attorney expects a decision today by the grand jury on the evidence submitted against Richard Speck, 24, in the mass murder of eight nurses.

State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward said Monday: "I have presented the case to the grand jury and I cannot say what the grand jury is going to do."

Ward has said he would seek a murder indictment against Speck for each slaying. Speck is presently charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davis, 22, of Dyer, Ind., who police believe was the first nurse slain in the methodical July 14 massacre.

A murder indictment on each slaying would permit the state to try Speck eight times, if necessary, to get a conviction.

Ward added that he expected

a grand jury decision today "through some court."

Miss Corazon Amurao, 23, a Filipino exchange student who escaped death by hiding under a bed, was reported by two physicians to be suffering from extreme exhaustion and did not appear before the grand jury.

"Due to legal ethical reasons," Ward told newsmen, "I cannot comment on the South Chicago Community Hospital statement that the nurse is suffering from extreme exhaustion and for that reason could not testify before the grand jury."

Miss Josephine Chan, director of nursing at the hospital where Miss Amurao is confined and where the victims trained, was the jury's first witness.

Two pathologists from the coroner's office, Dr. Eugene Tapia and Dr. James Henry, also entered the grand jury room.

Speck's counsel, Gerald Getty, head of the Public Defender's office, met with Speck Monday and said Speck was cooperative and able to answer questions. He did not elaborate on the discussion.

C. William Ruddell, superintendent of the House of Correction where Speck is confined at City Jail Hospital, said Speck's condition will be reported every 24 hours unless complications develop.

Speck has been hospitalized since he was arrested July 17 at Cook County Hospital.

He is being treated for slash wounds inflicted in a suicide attempt and for an inflammation of the sac surrounding the heart that developed July 19 when it was first believed he suffered a heart attack.

Thant Opens Talks Today With Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant opened talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin today. The talks were expected to center on the war in Viet Nam.

A Soviet announcement said the talks were held in a warm and friendly atmosphere. The announcement said questions of United Nations activity and some problems of the international situation were discussed. It did not elaborate.

Thant, who arrived Monday, also was expected to sound out Soviet leaders on whether they think he should serve a second term as secretary general.

Thant's first five-year term expires Nov. 3. He has promised to decide by September whether he will seek a second term. If he decides to continue in office, he will need the support of all five permanent members of the Security Council, including the Soviet Union.

Thant's three-point program for Viet Nam calls for an end to U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, reduction of military operations on all sides and talks by all parties concerned.

The Soviets favor the first point but have not endorsed the second two.

Conservatives Attack Wilson

British House Approves Nationalized Steel Mills

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons voted approval Monday night of the Labor government's bill to nationalize Britain's steel industry as the Conservatives mounted an attack on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's handling of the national economy.

The measure, approved by a vote of 328-247 on its second reading, would nationalize the 14 big companies which supply 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Final passage is expected late this year, although the Conservatives may try to delay it by pressing for a procedure that would permit each company involved to present testimony against the bill.

Anthony Barber, Conservative spokesman on steel, repeated the opposition argument that the bill is irrelevant to Britain's economic problems. Barber said the Conservatives would return steel to private ownership if they regain power. But he added a new qualification, saying they would drop state ownership "to whatever extent is necessary and practicable."

Barber declared that Britain's steel industry needs more competition, not less. Power Minister Richard Marsh countered that steel exports and productivity have been on the decline while imports of raw materials have been going up. The only way to reverse this trend, he asserted, is for the government to take over and reorganize the industry.

Commons begins a two-day debate today on Britain's economic crisis based on a Conservative motion expressing no confidence in the government's ability. There was no likelihood that the Labor party's disgruntled left wing would desert the government to vote with the Conservatives and put Wilson out of office.

More important to the future of Labor's austerity measures was the attitude of the Trades Union Congress toward the six-month wage freeze announced last week as part of the package to protect the pound by raising taxes and cutting government spending.

Wilson and Economics Minister George Brown pressed the TUC economic committee to knuckle under for the good of the country in a 90-minute meeting Monday night.

George Woodcock, TUC general secretary who has been skeptical of the freeze, told newsmen he thought some of the union leaders had been impressed by the talk. They scheduled another meeting with Wilson.

Amelia A Spy?

Died As One, Newspaper Says

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Amelia Earhart, the aviatrix whose mysterious disappearance in the South Pacific gained her a place in American folk history, died as a U.S. spy on a Japanese-held island, according to a copy-right newspaper story.

The Napa Register said Monday that the pioneer woman flier was captured by the Japanese on Saipan in 1937 while she completed an intelligence mission to inspect and photograph fortifications on Pacific islands.

Her body and that of navigator Frederick Noonan were secretly returned to the United States in 1944, according to the report. The newspaper said Miss Earhart died of dysentery and Noonan was beheaded.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said its files showed no evidence Miss Earhart was on an intelligence mission or that she was captured by the Japanese.

The official version of Miss Earhart's disappearance is that her plane apparently went down someplace between Lae, New Guinea, and Howland Island, on the first leg of a flight to Honolulu and Oakland, Calif.

The Register said it based its conclusion that Miss Earhart was on an espionage mission upon scrutiny of "classified files in the Department of the Navy and the Department of State."

The report cited "scores of natives" on the island who told newsman Frederick Goerner of radio station KCBS in San Francisco of a white man and woman being held captive by the Japanese. Goerner launched the investigation in 1960 and was joined by the Register three years ago.

One woman was quoted as saying: "The woman the Japanese called the flier died of dysentery. She could not be helped. The man who came to the island with her was executed several days after her death. The Japanese beheaded him with a Samurai sword."

According to the Register, two former U.S. Marines, Everett Henson Jr. of Sacramento, Calif., and Billy Burks, now living in Texas, found the remains of two bodies on the island in 1944.

When they asked a supervising officer "what are we looking for," the newspaper said, he replied, "Have you ever heard of Amelia Earhart?"

'Inspection Will Be Rigid,' Patrol Says Of Bus Checks

"Inspections this year will be rigid," Sgt. R. J. Rizzo of State Highway Patrol Post 15 at Lisbon announced today in advancing plans for the check of Columbiana County school buses Aug. 15-20 at the race track infield of the fairgrounds in Lisbon.

Cpl. Howard Reinke and Patrolman John Van Horne will be in charge of the inspections.

The inspecting patrol officers recently attended a course of instruction at the Highway Patrol Academy in Columbus conducted by the patrol and the State Department of Education to familiarize them with the requirements and standards for bus inspections.

Sgt. Rizzo pointed out that "Ohio has an outstanding safety record in its school bus operation and we intend to do our part to maintain the fine record."

Patrol officers again will don coveralls for the inspection. Items to be checked include brakes, steering, wiring, exhaust systems, frames, emergency exits, tires, lights condition of seats and other safety equipment. Buses also will be checked for first-aid kits and fire extinguishers.

Buses passing inspection will be indicated by a certificate affixed to the bus by the patrol officer. Those not passing will not receive a sticker and will be ordered in for repairs or removed from service.

For the first time buses this year will not display license plates, but will carry a registration number in black numerals at least six inches high on both the front and rear of the vehicle. The number replaces the gratis license plates formerly issued. All buses are registered with the Highway Patrol and assigned the new numbers.

Mrs. Wolf had been stabbed at least 15 times in the chest and abdomen with an ice pick. Her sister was beaten on the head, and possibly stabbed.

Terror At Ohio Fair

2 Killed, Several Hurt As Race Car Rips Fence

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — The annual Putnam County Fair ended Monday night in terror, screams and near-panic when a midget racing car crashed a fence, killing two teen-age spectators and injuring at least seven other persons.

Thousands were at the fairgrounds race track when the wreck occurred as the final night of the six-day fair drew toward a close.

The gala air of excitement turned to shock and dismay as the racer driven by Jan Heely of Battle Creek, Mich., striving to avoid another car that had skidded, rammed the fence.

Charles Horstman, 19, of nearby Cloverdale was killed instantly. He suffered a skull fracture.

Gary D. Burden, 18, of near Spencerville in Allen County was dead on arrival at a Lima hospital.

Another seven persons were reported taken to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, 20 miles from here. Five were admitted, one in serious condition.

Heely was among them, with head and facial injuries.

Witnesses said one of the youths killed had been sitting atop concrete enclosing a men's rest room but jumped down into the car's path as it slammed into a section where spectators were standing about 250 feet south of the filled grandstand.

The other victim, it was reported, was rolled up in the woven-wire fence as the runaway car tore down some 100 feet of it before going on through and hitting a power pole.

Heely's car, the only one that wrecked, did not overturn.

Fairgoers seeing the accident or hearing of it began frantically searching for any of their children who might have been in the crash area.

No Reply Due To Charges Against Dodd

NEW YORK (AP) — An aide to Sen. Thomas Dodd says the Connecticut Democrat sees no reason to reply to an article contending that a Senate investigating committee has evidence that $350,000 in campaign funds he collected over a three-year period went for other purposes.

The aide said Monday there would be no response to the charge in the current issue of Newsweek magazine that Dodd took in $500,000 in campaign funds from November 1961 to March 1965 and spent only $150,000 of it for actual campaigning.

The aide suggested that Dodd thought of the money raised at testimonial dinners not so much as "campaign contributions," but more as "personal gifts."

The figures, according to Newsweek, came from records in Dodd's own files, removed by former members of the senator's staff and handed over to the Committee on Standards and Conduct.

There was evidence, the magazine said, that Dodd paid $8,500 he owed a ghost writer, a $5,500 air travel account and liquor bills at the Congressional Country Club with campaign contributions.

Newsweek said the committee had additional evidence that Dodd paid about $59,500 in personal notes to banks and individuals during the period while he reported his earnings dropped from about $60,000 to about $35,000.

Matt Moriarty of Manchester, Conn., a former aide to the senator, said he could not think of any three-year period in which Dodd took in $500,000 in contributions.

Andrea Doria

Sea Disaster 10 Years Ago Today

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — "We have collided with another ship. Please. Ship in collision." Ten years ago today, at 10:30 a.m., the liner Andrea Doria, pierced by the great steel prow of the motor vessel Stockholm, sank in the Atlantic 45 miles south of Nantucket.

Fifty-one lives were lost. Some 1,600 were saved.

The first distress message cracked from the Stockholm at 11:22 the night before. Seconds earlier, the bow that was specially reinforced for the winter ice of Scandinavian harbors had ripped into the starboard side of the pride of the Italian Line.

In cabin class on the starboard side was Leonida Raniere, then 72, of Beverly, Mass. She talks about the sailor who "made me creep like a frog" along the deck as the liner listed heavily to starboard. She recalls the sailor who smashed the window in the bar and distributed cognac to the passengers, chilled and wet in the Atlantic mist.

"I was not afraid then," she said. "Then after I am home, I start to dream. Oh, I remember everything, and every night I think about it, and I am scared. So I went back two years later, on the Cristoforo Colombo. It is the sister ship. And then I am not afraid any more."

The Stockholm that night was eastbound to Europe from New York. The Andrea Doria, built three years before at a cost of $30 million, furnished with paintings by Rembrandt, laden with negotiable bonds, jewels, valuable cargo and a special car built for Chrysler Corp. in Italy, was westbound from Naples.

The Stockholm later limped back to New York with $1 million damage to its prow.

Dozens of ships were in the collision area and responded as the Stockholm radioed another distress call at 12:08 a.m. "Collided with another vessel in position 40-34 north, 69-45 west. But still undetermined damage."

Aboard the liner, Clarence H. Gifford Jr. of Providence, R.I., was collecting his four children and his wife and ushering them onto the sloping deck.

"I had said goodbye to my wife and family," he said Monday night. "They went into boats with the other women and children. I waited about an hour and a half, and there were people from below decks coming up, covered with oil, screaming. Then it was the men's turn, and I went down that sloping deck."

"I hadn't been able to see anything up on the port side," he said. "But when I got down on the starboard side, I saw blazing lights and letters about 12 or 15 feet tall. I swear they were, those big letters on that great big boat. The lle de France. I guess that was just about the finest thing I've ever seen in my whole life."

Last September, a ship captain named Don Henry, a resident of Detroit, announced he would begin within 60 days to raise the sunken Andrea Doria. He said he would pump the vessel full of plastic flotation material. But nothing has happened. Efforts to reach him in Detroit and Toronto Monday night were fruitless.

The Andrea Doria was an "unsinkable" ship. After the crash, C.R. Campbell, assistant district manager of Italian Line, said it was built to the demanding specification of the Italian Register, the Lloyd's Register, and the American Bureau of Shipping. "The gash in the side," he said, "was of extraordinary dimensions."

The 697-foot Andrea Doria now lies at the bottom of the sea, 225 feet down, 20 miles from the Nantucket Lightship, visited only by adventuresome divers.

Needy Youngsters To Swim In Pools At Military Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Needy youngsters soon will be splashing in 70 swimming pools at military bases across the nation.

The Pentagon has agreed to share the pools under a crash effort by the federal government to help cool off major metropolitan areas.

The Defense Department was enlisted in the new program by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which handles the government's antipoverty program.

The OEO said several cities were seeking additional recreational facilities "on an emergency basis immediately."

An OEO spokesman declined to say whether the campaign — also aimed at providing public and private pools and even sprinklers for fire hydrants — was calculated in part to ease racial tensions in some areas.

A memorandum sent by Sargent Shriver, director of the antipoverty program, to OEO regional offices, said: "In case of public inquiry, it should be emphasized that this is an expansion of OEO summer program efforts and it seeks to be responsive to the needs of communities."

The potential use of pools at 40 military installations in 15 states was one of four approaches toward assisting what the OEA called "target area residents." These selected areas include 35 major cities.

Arrangements are being made to provide insurance for youngsters who swim in the military pools, a spokesman said. Pools paid for by dues at officers clubs are excluded from the program.

The OEO memorandum to its regional offices said community action agency officials should work with local base commanders in arranging swimming schedules, appropriate shower and clothes-changing facilities and transportation.

The OEO also told its regional offices:

Extra poverty funds can be provided to local community action directors to extend the operating hours of public pools. Surplus funds also may be used to defray reasonable bus transportation expenses to and from pools.

"Efforts also should be made to secure periodic use of neighborhood or other privately owned pools as a public service," the agency said.

OEO may also make available funds to purchase fire-hydrant sprinklers, one method of improving recreation in areas

Area Red Cross Sets Certificate Ceremony

A capping and awards ceremony for Red Cross hospital volunteers will be held Friday night at 8 at the First Methodist Church.

Certificates will be given 23 new volunteers who have been training at the City Hospital and Osteopathic Hospitals, and awards will be given 40 volunteers who have completed from 100 to 1,000 hours.

Norman Nicely, Area Red Cross Chapter chairman, Mrs. Robert Hays, chairman of hospital volunteers, and Mrs. Dennis Singer, chairman of recognition, will present the awards.

When Huckleberry Finn first appeared, it was banned in several libraries and widely censored. Mark Twain replied happily that such actions made the book bound to sell at least 25,000 copies.

7 Ohioans Due Awards For Heroism

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) —

Seven Ohioans were named by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission today to receive bronze medals and $750 awards each for acts of heroism — five of them for rescuing a 45-year-old school teacher from a crashed and burning airplane in Athens on May 9, 1965.

The awards in the Athens case went to Durwood L. Lewis, 18, Rt. 2, Morrow, Ohio; Ronald E. Ziegler, 21, Athens; Richard E. Barr, 24, St. Clairsville; Edwin D. Walford, 21, Bridgeport, and Dr. E. Dale Mattmiller, 39, Athens.

All figured in the rescue of James T. Artry who suffered burns and other injuries but recovered after his plane crashed and burned at the Ohio University Airport.

The five fought their way through flames to rescue Artry.

Merrill Lee Sears, 24, Jackson, a telephone lineman, received the medal and the cash award for saving Jerald D. Bailey, 20, another lineman, from death by electric shock in Columbus June 8, 1965.

Bailey had been working atop a pole when his head came in contact with a high voltage line and he lost consciousness. Sears, who was working lower on the pole, climbed to the rescue despite the danger of the "hot" wire. Bakley was hospitalized but later recovered.

While exploring a cave, Baetzold became wedged in a crevice and all early attempts to rescue him failed. Baetzold found himself trapped for about 24 hours until Ulrich arrived and after much difficulty and three trips into the cave, he managed to get a rope around Baetzold's chest and helped raise him to the surface.

Lakewood Youth Cited In Fatal Shooting Of Boy

CLEVELAND (AP) — An 18-year-old Lakewood youth has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the fatal shooting of a 12-year-old boy Saturday night.

Police said Donald J. Alfering told them he had been shooting a .22-caliber rifle into a pile of dirt at a construction site. The site is one block west of where a car in which Ronald Anselmo was riding and had stopped for a traffic light.

Alfering said he fired one shot into the dirt and one shot into the air while at the site, and another from the window of his nearby apartment, police said.

Detectives believe the first shot struck the Anselmo boy in the back of the head. He died Sunday night at Lakewood Hospital.

Alfering is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

13 Ohio GOP Vote 'Nay' In Losing Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — "An affront to the Rules Committee of this House and the rules of this House," Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Bowling Green said as he and all fellow Ohio Republicans voting said "nay" in a losing cause.

The 13 Ohio Republican congressmen recorded were on the minority side Monday when the House decided 200-180 to bypass the Rules Committee on the wide-ranging administration-sponsored Civil Rights measure.

The committee had scheduled no hearings on the bill since receiving it June 30. It contains open housing, jury selection and antiterrorism provisions.

Only one Ohio Democrat, Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, voted against the resolution to bring the bill onto the floor for debate.

Voting for it were Democrats Ashley, Feighan, Kirwan, Love, Moeller, Secrest and Vanik, while Gilligan and Sweeney were recorded in favor though not actually voting.

Besides Latta, Ohio GOP representatives Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, Bolton, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, McCulloch, Minshall, Mosher and Stanton opposed the resolution. No vote was recorded for Rep. Frank T. Bow.

Someone Needs To Do It

Sen. J. W. Fulbright's latest challenge to the president of the party of his choice is on the Johnson administration's over-all Asia policy.

The Arkansas Democrat, continuing his role of foreign policy gadfly, wants to know who authorized the Johnson administration to commit the United States to be policeman and provider for all of Asia.

He wants to know why, if the Monroe Doctrine was designed to keep the Old World of Europe from colonizing and exploiting the New World, it doesn't make as much sense to expect Asians to resent the New World's intrusion into their world.

He wants to know if anyone ever asked the Asians if they want "to join the Great Society." The Johnson administration denies it ever said it wanted them to join, but Sen. Fulbright insists it has.

AS SEN. FULBRIGHT continues in his persistent course of asking questions of the Johnson administration that it cannot answer handily, the senator's critics will grow more vehement and bitter.

There is nothing in all this for Sen. Fulbright but the personal satisfaction he gets from doing what someone needs to do in every critical juncture of national action. Sen. Fulbright is making the government defend itself for controversial decisions and acts.

The two-party system has failed to do what it is supposed to do. It has left the United States with no partisan opposition on a policy that never was discussed properly before it was put into effect and is not being challenged properly. Republican legislators, especially senators are more interested in the next election than in the outcome of an ill-advised policy.

They are afraid of what might happen to them if President Johnson and other war apologists pulled out all the stops on the patriotic organ and drowned them out with implications that anyone opposing a war never officially declared is a traitor and, worse, a Communist sympathizer.

CHANCES ARE that Sen. Fulbright will be ruined politically by doing what someone needed to do but that he summoned the courage to do in his high position as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He has made it clear he expects no credit for taking the unpopular side, but the fact is he is being given credit by more of his contemporaries than he is aware of and undoubtedly will get a full share when historians look backward to see who doubted the "Great Society" was going to elicit hearty enthusiasm in Asia.

Eventually It Won't Matter

Are U. S. troops now fighting Chinese soldiers in South Viet Nam?

Infiltration of Chinese troops into Southeast Asia will be as hard to pinpoint as it was in Korea.

Long after Chinese "volunteers" were fighting in significant numbers by the side of North Koreans, U. S. militarists paced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur were pooh-poohing their presence.

Yet, when it finally was evident to military authorities of the wide experience of Dwight D. Eisenhower, a former chief of staff, supreme allied commander in the battle of Europe in World War II and commander in chief of all the armed forces of the United States that the war in Korea could not be won but would have to be negotiated to a truce, Chinese troops were bearing the brunt of the combat.

It is only reasonable to expect the same thing to happen in Viet Nam.

For the same reason the United States is bearing the brunt of the battle in behalf of South Viet Nam, with its 16 million people, the Republic of China would be expected to bear the brunt if it came to the rescue of North Viet Nam's 32 million people.

China's manpower is as unlimited as the wealth of the United States, which officially sank 5.8 billion into its undeclared war in Southeast Asia in the 12 months ended last June 30 and all told has spent more wealth there than this country's total appropriations for a whole year's operating expenses up to the outbreak of World War II.

Eventually, it won't matter who the enemy is in Viet Nam.

From the beginning, it has been impossible to distinguish the South Vietnamese from the North Vietnamese, or the Viet Cong from either. The Chinese will be taller and heavier; that will be the only difference.

From the other side's point of view, an American is just the same as the Frenchmen, when they were being routed from Indo-China — just a little taller, a little heavier but otherwise a white foreigner in Asia.

'Whooshers'

New York Central Railroad's experiment with a jet-propelled railroad car is jogging the interest of the most jaded.

A railroad car capable of moving at speed comparable to airplane speed could bring back short-haul passenger traffic to railroads in urban areas.

Railroads have used high-speed service between Milwaukee and Chicago for example. If they could develop a jet propulsion technique for moving at speeds of 200 miles at relatively low cost, they would have the counterpart of an airplane moving on the ground, using centrally situated stations, instead of remote airports.

Grade crossings would have to be eliminated. Railroad rights of way would have to be fenced. Road beds would have to be maintained in a way rarely dreamed of in the United States.

Railroad "whooshers" are in use in Japan — not the jet-propelled units being tried by New York Central but high-speed trains of conventional design. With a Pennsy-New York Central merger now scheduled for early fall, a new era of railroad innovation is dawning.

crease their speed, one of two things must be done to keep them supplied with fuel.

Either more petroleum must be produced, or more kerosene must be wrung out of the current petroleum supply. Ideally, the latter would be the solution, because if the over-all petroleum supply were increased sharply, there would be a problem of getting rid of residual products.

It has been a long time since the good life in the countryside was a kerosene lamp on the table and a full can of kerosene on the porch with a potato firmly jammed on its pouring spout. Now, the good life is a luxury jet airplane flying from New York to London with 13,000 gallons of kerosene aboard.

By Truman Twill

The principle is the same in both techniques of self-defense.

If violence is threatened, make it mutual. Chances are slim that creeps who molest other people ever mean it when they promise security in return for silence — too slim to be worth the gamble.

Therefore, why not fight from scratch? Why not be ready with a scream, a thrust, a kick, a sudden move that will give the assailant something to think about besides carrying out his plan at leisure?

Unfortunately, it's never as simple as it is in play-acting, where an assailant can be felled by a swish of the hero's hand — apparently from air pressure. In real life, there are complications.

But the idea is to give the assailant complications to worry about — never to let him have things his own way. His own way turned out to be the massacre of eight people in the Chicago blood-letting.

Watch That First Step!

U.S. Tagged 'Strike-Happy'

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Johnson thinks the country has gone strike-happy.

Gently, but in the anguished tones of a man harassed by turbulence on a more explosive far-off front, Mr. Johnson said so to George Meany.

It was said pointedly—and privately.

The President, who looks upon the nation's top labor leader as a mighty handy plumber to have in his kitchen cabinet, invited Meany in for a confidential talk.

They met at 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 19.

What they said to each other is top secret.

Meany came in the White House back door and left the same way.

He did not talk to newsmen, and all official comment at the labor headquarters was confined to mere acknowledgement that the chief did visit the White House.

THOSE WHO DO KNOW what the conversation pieces were during the talk between the two old friends say that the President raised at least two issues: The airline strike (and what to do about the Machinist Union's demand for a package worth $38 million annually for three years), and the strike wave across the country. The President was also concerned over the difficulties encountered by Secretary of Labor Wirtz.

Bill Wirtz, as weary these days as he is witty, has been playing his role quite differently from the flashy showmanship tactics of his predecessor, Arthur Goldberg.

The secretary has been self-effacing and apparently devoted to development of human resources.

He has been atop every crisis. And this has been the longest crises season in years. The chain of command runs from assistant secretary of labor for Labor-Management Relations, Jim Reynolds (a one-man shock troop), to Wirtz, then to the anonymous White House trouble shooter Joe Califano, and finally to the President himself.

Mr. Johnson has attempted to stay out of the labor relations business.

He still takes calls from union chiefs—but these come rarely now.

Thus, some time ago he sent word to the labor and industry leaders he would not get into the airline strike—or any others—for a long while.

Then came the deluge.

Billions of dollars worth of construction have been held up in drives by building unions seeking what shortly will be an average of $19 to $10 an hour (including fringe benefits).

SOME OF THESE UNIONS in New York now are set to battle for an increase of more than $50 a week per man in the new contracts.

Over in New Jersey, where hundreds of millions of dollars worth of construction are involved, the turbulent giant Peter Weber, leader of the Operating Engineers, still hasn't his contract—and in the midst of it all simply took off for Florida.

These are just a few skirmishes on the coast to coast labor front.

Municipal strikes are flaring.

Walter Reuther's auto workers are stirring and pressuring the car producers behind the scenes in an effort to raise wages for skilled workers long before the national contract expire.

There are the feverish nurses and doctors strikes, and more is to come on the firefighters front as well as in the telephone communication and the electrical fields. The White House is considerably disturbed by the threat of mass strikes in these industries.

Furthermore, national union chiefs don't seem to be able to control their rank and file.

EVERYWHERE THE PRESSURE from below is pushing up wages while the White House makes sporadic efforts to keep the lid on prices.

That lid is getting too hot to handle.

Just what George Meany can do no one can truly say.

He is, after all, the leader of a voluntary coalition of big unions which owe no discipline to the AFL-CIO itself.

True, their national executive council meets on August 22. That's a long time to wait for new national labor policy.

All this the President had on his mind that Tuesday.

So he called in his friend.

What is the good of having a skilled plumber in a kitchen cabinet if you can't get some economic leaks fixed?

Power To Act

By David Lawrence

The President's Authority

Once in a while it is a good thing to re-read certain articles of the Constitution of the United States and even Senators need to do it occasionally, lest by their public utterances they mislead people at home and abroad.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has just made a speech in which he says, in effect, that President Johnson is making "an irrevocable national commitment in Asia" "without the consent or even the knowledge of the Senate."

David Lawrence

This has drawn an emphatic rebuttal from the White House, which declares that the President has kept Congress fully informed about his policies.

The Constitution says that the president "shall have power by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur." This doesn't mean that the president must allow senators to participate in the negotiation of treaties or agreements with foreign governments or that Congress can formulate foreign policy.

It does mean that the president can make "policy" and doesn't have to get the consent of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or of Congress to order our air force to repel an attack from a country, especially one that may come in the night.

Indeed, the Monroe Doctrine was a commitment of policy initiated in 1823, but it was never submitted to the Senate for ratification until 1940, when 21 republics in this hemisphere joined in a pact approving the doctrine.

THE CONSTITUTION gives Congress the right "to declare war," which means the president is then authorized to order military operations against another country. Congress can also recognize by resolution "a state of war" already begun. Nothing in the Constitution prevents the chief executive from acting on his own judgment when an emergency develops. In August 1964 — some time after the guerrilla skirmishes in South Viet Nam expanded into a larger war — Congress authorized the President to use our armed forces to repel the aggression of the Communists in the Viet Nam area. This is considered today a legal ratification of past military operations as well as authority for subsequent military measures in the same war.

Sen. Fulbright says that, except for the Monroe Doctrine, the United States "has traditionally rejected policies of unilateral responsibilities were limited to certain countries and says that until quite recently "these responsibilities were limited to certain countries and certain purposes" and that the responsibilities were to be discharged "collectively either under the United Nations or in co-operation with our allies."

MUST THE UNITED STATES condone aggression and accept the consequences of the fact that the United Nations is indirectly influenced or controlled by the power of the enemy? The U.N. Charter permits regional agreements for collective defense. This makes valid the creation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for the collective defense of Europe against aggression and the Southeast Asia Treaty for the defense of the Asian continent. Both treaties have been ratified by the United States Senate.

In addition to the Alliance for Progress, which has been built to help solve the economic problems of Latin America, the Organization of American States has been formed. Along the same line, recently ten nations in the Pacific, including the United States and Japan, have established the Asian and Pacific Council. Yet this is what Sen. Fulbright calls "a radical departure in American foreign policy."

SEN. FULBRIGHT criticizes what he calls an "Asian doctrine" as if this is designed as a parallel to the Monroe Doctrine, which originally placed the task of defense against aggression in this hemisphere solely on the shoulders of the United States. The opposite is true. The United States is ready to assist on the financial, economic and military side but hopes its allies in Asia soon will increase in number and co-operate in all respects so as to resist aggression, just as the Monroe Doctrine has been broadened to include other countries in this hemisphere as allies.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW

This is to express a sincere "thanks" to members of the East Liverpool Police Department who acted so efficiently and so courteously when my car was stolen over the weekend from the parking lot at City Hospital here.

Within a matter of hours after the car had been reported missing, it was returned to me safely.

Police, not only in East Liverpool but in other communities, frequently are subjected to unjust criticism. Therefore, I want to take this opportunity to let them know that I appreciate their efforts on my behalf.

Light Ordinance Advanced

Water, Sewage Action Taken By Lisbon's Council

LISBON — Council Monday night authorized the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs to enter into a cooperative agreement with the county commissioners for village water and sewerage treatment service.

William McKenna of W. E. Quicksall & Associates, engineering consultants of New Philadelphia, had discussed a proposed Lisbon area water and sewer district at Council's June meeting.

He said the Center Township areas outside Lisbon could be tied into the village sewerage treatment plant and be served by the village water supply without overtaxing the systems. A standpipe or water tower would be necessary on the hilltop north of here.

COUNCIL'S resolution was necessary to open the way for talks between the Board of Public Affairs and the commissioners.

Council gave first reading to a new Ohio Edison Co. rate ordinance covering streetlights. While the measure makes a small reduction in the village rate by eliminating space charges, the primary feature is a rate schedule for mercury lights which the existing contract does not contain. The village has no mercury lights at present.

Deane Beck, Salem area manager for Ohio Edison, said the firm is installing a mercury light rate which is about 25 percent less than it has been.

Council expressed interest in his explanation that the 32 downtown incandescent streetlights costing $5.70 each per month are available in mercury models nearly twice as bright, for $5.80 each. Beck said there would be no charge for installing mercury lights should Council decide to make a change.

Lisbon has 213 incandescent lights in residential areas, costing $2.30 each per month. A comparable size mercury light, three times as bright, would cost $3.80 each.

Richard T. Mason, president of the Lisbon Historical Society, was present to ask Council's cooperation in providing free parking for two special buses bringing approximately 70 members of the Western Reserve Historical Society of Cleveland to Lisbon Wednesday, Aug. 24. The group will visit the Old Stone House, the McKinley Homestead and other places of interest, and have lunch at the Wick Hotel.

COUNCIL adopted a general fund budget of $84,040 for 1967. Clerk - Treasurer John Ebert said this compares with the $96,750 available this year. The village entered 1966 with a $14,710 carryover in the general fund.

At Ebert's request, Council transferred $150 from the general fund to the Civil Defense fund to pay for electricity at the CD building on N. Market St.

Ebert read a copy of a letter from S. Market St. merchants to the Lions Club, thanking the Lions for holding their annual street fair away from their section of S. Market this summer. "It was quite an advantage to our customers," the merchants pointed out.

Armco Official Gives Reasons For Earnings Dip

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—The president of Armco Steel Corp. says his firm's second quarter earnings dropped for two reasons — rising employment costs and labor troubles at Ashland, Ky.

William Verity, president of the company, says sales for the quarter ending June 20 were $227,000—up from $312,419,000 the year before — but earnings declined from $24,123,000 or $1.63 a share to $22,891,000 (m) or $1.55 a share.

"Both steel production and earnings were adversely affected by two unlawful strikes at the Ashland, Ky., works of the company," Verity added, saying that raw steel production fell from 2,014,000 tons in the 1965 quarter to 1,896,000 tons this year.

Man-Made Flood Erasing Last Everglades Deer Herd

ANDYTOWN, Fla. (AP) — A gigantic man-made flood is exterminating the last herd of Everglades deer in the open wilderness.

Alarmed conservationists are threatening to take the problem into their own hands if they can't get official action.

"If they don't shut down those gates in a week," said Freddie Fiskelli of the Dade County Halltrack Conservation Club, "they're going to be shut anyway."

"We've got about 50 men ready to go," he said, "and we don't care what they do."

Millions of gallons of water a minute are pouring into a 900-square-mile wildlife management area west of Miami, swallowing dry land and foliage until there are only isolated islands left in water two to six feet deep.

The entire fawn crop has been wiped out, conservationists say, and now the 4,000 to 6,000 bucks and does are starving to death or dying of disease.

The water is being pumped into the wilderness from rich farmlands to the north and is flowing through open gates from huge reservoirs to the east.

The authority to stop it seems buried in overlapping state and federal agencies.

Fiskelli and others who roam the Everglades north of the national park blame the central and southern Florida Flood Control District. They want it to stop the pumping and shut the gates.

The district says it cannot stop pumping the farmlands because a heavy rain would flood valuable crops. In the reservoirs, the district says, heavy summer rains have created water levels so high that the decision to close the gates is now in the hands of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The corps says the gates cannot be closed because water would stack up behind them so high that the levees might be threatened. That in turn would threaten the thickly populated east coast should a hurricane sweep in, the corps says.

"We are doing everything we can," said Ed Dail, head of the Flood Control District, "but you have to understand these areas come first."

Earle Frye, head of the State Game Commission, said, "We're going to do everything we can. But when you start arguing about humans and deer, you know who comes out on bottom."

A membership certificate will be presented to all persons or organizations donating to the fund, according to Tarulli. U.S. Stresses Use Of Auto Seat Belts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government stressed today the importance of training motorists to buckle their seat belts.

The Public Health Service said of 1,850 Oakland, Calif., drivers interviewed during a survey, 28 per cent owned vehicles equipped with seat belts.

Two-thirds of those having seat belts used them in highway driving but only one-third used them in city driving. The service said use of seat belts could save 5,000 lives a year nationwide.

WHY BOTHER WITH ONE-ROOM AIR CONDITIONERS WHEN-

WHOLE-HOUSE GAS AIR CONDITIONING COSTS $14.00 A MONTH TO OWN!

Probably the reason some people are still going for those roaring wind-tunnels called window air conditioners is that they haven't heard how little it costs to own whole-house Gas air conditioning.

Hear it now: Fourteen dollars a month—or less—not only buys a powerful three-ton capacity Gas central air conditioning system, but installs it, too. And there's no down payment.

Does the low price surprise you? It shouldn't, when you consider that a compact Gas air conditioner attaches to your present Gas furnace, converting it instantly into a matched heating-cooling team. Gas air conditioning is the quietest, longest-lived and most trouble-free of any central home-cooling system. And economical Gas can cool your whole house, every room, for a fraction of the cost of keeping a flock of noisy one-room air conditioners in electricity.

Send in the no obligation coupon today, and enjoy summer with cool, healthful air in every room in your home.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A woman telephoned the Humane Society of St. Louis and said a boa constrictor was resting on the beams in the basement of a building she owned.

Sure enough, there was a 5-foot boa constrictor in the basement. The reptile was removed by the two men. The building owner, Mrs. Alice Boom, explained:

"The people who used to run a night club here had a couple of boa constrictors in a kind of African setting. I guess they kept them in a cage behind the bar to amuse the customers who hadn't seen large snakes before. The snakes disappeared months ago. Except one, I guess."

Director Makes Ruling

Liquor Banned At Four New W. Va. State Parks

CHARLESTON — West Virginia's four new state parks, costing $28 million to add $10 million a year to the state's economy, will have all the luxuries of plush resorts but will have to get along without alcohol.

This was the ruling made here Monday by State Natural Resources Director Robert P. McDonough in making the first public showing of sketches and photographs of plans for the four new parks.

The "consensus" of West Virginians would not support the sale of beer or any other alcoholic beverages at the state parks, McDonough told a press conference.

The plans outlined by McDonough, under the state's parks expansion plan started in 1963, call for plush lodges, championship golf courses, isolated cabins and elaborate outdoor recreational facilities.

McDonough said the state was "planning boldly" to get our share of the tourist trade.

"Outdoor recreation is our most dynamic and fastest growing industry," McDonough declared. He said West Virginia's tourist trade last year reached more than $400 million.

The four new parks, either under construction or about to get under way, are at Hawks Nest in Fayette County, Twin Falls in Wyoming County, Pipestem in Summers and Mercer counties and Canaan Valley in Tucker County.

The state borrowed $16 million to pay its share of the costs and the federal government is paying $12 million.

McDonough's plans showed Pipestem would have a 120-room lodge—the largest in the state parks system—as well as cabins set deep in the forest, an amphitheater, 18-hole and 9-hole golf courses, aerial tramway, swimming pool and other facilities.

Total cost of Pipestem's development is estimated at $11 million and is scheduled for completion in April, 1968.

Canaan Valley, also expected to cost $11 million, promises to be the state's finest ski resort. McDonough said plans call for a 90-room lodge, ski lift, a golf course and other outdoor recreational facilities. Canaan is to be completed in March, 1968.

Twin Falls, estimated to cost $3 million, will have a 20-room lodge, amphitheater, hiking trails, golf course, campsites and other facilities. Completion is scheduled for next June.

McDonough said work on a 32-room lodge at Hawks Nest is under way and should be finished by October. The $2 million development will include an aerial tramway and water sports in the lake below.

Altogether, McDonough said the lodges will double West Virginia's present state parks sleeping capacity to 1,000 bedrooms. He said the developments would generate about $2.5 million more in yearly revenues.

The park facilities likely will be leased to private concerns for development, McDonough said. But he added that the state would have safeguards against skyrocketing prices at the state-bought facilities.

Boyd And Longworth Speak At GOP Session

LISBON — James W. Boyd of East Liverpool and John Longworth of Salem were the speakers when the Columbiana County Republican advisory group met Monday noon at the Wick Hotel here.

Boyd, county commissioner seeking his second term, said Republicans must retain their seat on the board.

Longworth, a candidate for state senator from the 30th Senatorial District, said voters in the five counties of the district—Columbiana, Carroll, Harrison, Jefferson and Tuscarawas — "have been very receptive to the Rhodes administration policies and are anxious to support Republican candidates to insure continuance of this program."

The group discussed the County Fair project and the annual October banquet to be held at Beaver Local High School. County Chairman Charles A. Pike of Lisbon announced a meeting of county chairmen from the 30th District and 18th Congressional District tonight at Steubenville. The chairmen will meet with Longworth and William H. Weir of Salem, candidate for Congress from the 18th District.

Four clubs have picnics planned: East Palestine, 6 p. m., Wednesday, at East Palestine City Park; Columbiana, 6 p. m., Thursday, at Pavilion 4, Firestone Park; Salem Women, 6:30 p. m., next Tuesday, at home of Carmen McNicol, 849 S. ## 7 Seeking Gubernatorial Bid In Arkansas Voting

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Seven candidates bid today for a Democratic gubernatorial nomination that may no longer be equivalent to election in this once "safe" Democratic state.

Party unity has been one of the prime issues because the winner expects to face Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in November and Rockefeller polled 43 per cent of the vote two years ago against Gov. Orval Faubus, the all-time champion of Arkansas politics.

Faubus is not seeking re-election, but his administration and the political organization he built during 12 years in office have been the main topics of debate in a two-month campaign.

Six candidates contend that the Faubus "machine" has swung behind Frank Holt, a 55-year-old former prosecutor, attorney general and Supreme Court justice who has denied that he has any Faubus ties.

Lined up against Holt were Jim Johnson, 41, of Conway, a former segregationist spokesman and Supreme Court justice; Brooks Hays, 67, of Little Rock, a former congressman and adviser to presidents; Dale Alford, 50, of Little Rock, another former congressman; Sam Boyce, 34, of Newport, a prosecutor and former president of the Arkansas Young Democrats; Raymond Rebsamen, 68, of Little Rock, a businessman and civic leader; and Kenneth Sulzer, 41, of Osceola, a 14-year veteran of the state legislature.

Holt claimed on election eve to be leading the ticket and other candidates conceded that he stands a good chance of being in the Aug. 9 runoff between the top two finishers in today's voting.

But each of the others was predicting that he would be the man in the runoff with Holt.

To avoid a runoff, one candidate must get more than 50 per cent of the vote cast. But polls showed that no candidate had more than 25 per cent.

Each of the Democrats claimed that he could best carry the party's fight against Rockefeller who was involved today in a primary race against Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who, Rockefeller said, was put into the race by Democrats for harassment. McMillan ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954.

Faubus has made no public pronouncement for any candidate. He has promised to support the winner against Rockefeller.

Youths Hurt On Motorbike

Two youths on a motorbike were injured when one swerved to avoid a collision with a pickup truck on Kountz Ave. near Wellsville Monday afternoon. Two other mishaps were investigated yesterday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Lynn Allen Shanks, 17, of 1016 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, and Ronald Ring, 18, of Glenmoor were treated by a Wellsville physician for abrasions after their motorbike overturned about a half-mile north of the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. Officers said Shanks was headed south and attempted to stop behind a halted pickup truck from which the driver was delivering newspapers.

Unable to stop, Shanks pulled out to pass the truck just as the truck driver — as yet unidentified — started away from the roadside. Shanks swerved and, in attempting to slow, lost control and the bike upset.

Shanks suffered abrasions of the arms and legs and Ring abrasions of the legs. The patrol is still investigating.

Thomas C. Jenkins, 18, of Negley R.D. 1 escaped injury when his 1957 coach went off Route 170 about seven miles south of Negley yesterday morning and hit a concrete culvert. The patrol said Jenkins was headed south when the car drifted off the road and he lost control. He was cited on a registration charge.

A parked vehicle owned by Frank Ketchum, 44, of Salineville R.D. 2 was struck by a steel coil which broke loose from a tractor-trailer truck on Route 644 about two miles north of Salineville late yesterday afternoon.

Jimmy W. Pittman, 26, of Melvindale, Mich., was headed north when a binder on steel coils on the rig broke and coils went off the trailer on both sides of the road. One rolled and hit the left front of the parked vehicle. He was cited for driving with an insecure load.

In 1961, the Lazard Brothers Company wrote a check for the National Provincial Bank in the amount of $334,867,807.68, making the largest in the history of banking.

Weiner dove to a depth of 35 feet without diving gear, then returned to the spot with air tanks and dived again, removing the mouthpiece several times underwater to discharge water from the faulty device.

Janet Louise Jenkins Wed In Ceremonies At Church

The Lake Mount Church of Christ in New Waterford was the setting for the marriage July 16 at 8:30 p. m. of Miss Janet Louise Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins of Rogers, and Wilbert J. Sattler, son of Mrs. Nancy Sattler of Clarkson and the late Wilbert R. Sattler.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Charles W. Doughty. Mrs. Glenn Baker was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a full-length gown of satin and chiffon, styled with short sleeves, a natural waist line and a white satin bow tied all over the skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of chiffon was held in place by a pear-shaped tiara.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis tied on with white lace over a Bible belonging to her great grandmother.

Miss Susan D. Jenkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Harry (Bonnie) Davis, sister of the bridegroom, matron of honor. They wore white lace dresses over blue linen and halo crown hats with brief veils and white linen bows. They carried tinted blue carnations and foliage tied with white satin streamers on a beaded clutch bag, a gift of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a blue voile dress with beige accessories and a corsage of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and foliage. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue lace dress over satin with white accessories.

Viet Nam's fuel storage areas last month.

The Buddhist leadership reminded the military regime that some of the politically minded monks remained dissatisfied with the generals' pledge to put the country on the road to civilian rule with an election for a constitution-drafting assembly Sept. 17.

The acting chairman of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Thien Hoa, called on the faithful to abandon immolation as a method of protest, adding however that fiery suicides had not ended the tribulations of Buddhism.

Thien Hoa succeeded to the political leadership of the 2-million-member Unified Buddhist Church when the institute chairman, Thich Tam Chau, decided to take a leave of absence for health reasons when he failed to win wholehearted support of his policy of moderation.

Marine patrols turned up 38 more enemy bodies as the hunt continued just below the buffer zone separating the two Viet Nams, but the last significant contact with the North Vietnamese took place Monday afternoon when units of the 1st and 4th Marine Regiments came under mortar fire. No Marine casualties were reported.

A U.S. spokesman said Marine losses have been light since several thousand Leathernecks and South Vietnamese troops began Operation Hertzings July 15 after allied intelligence reported the infiltration of the North Vietnamese. However, one Marine company took heavy losses Sunday when Communists cloaked by thick jungle battered the unit and another company trying to link up with it.

Another strong North Vietnamese force was reported in positions in central Viet Nam along the Laotian and Cambodian borders, possibly waiting for the right moment to strike across the highlands. If successful, such an operation could cut South Viet Nam in two and outflank the Marine foothold in the Da Nang-Hue area.

tional health, safety and defense.

With negotiations stalemated and suspended, Morse said legislation now is the only way to get the airline flying again.

The talks were in recess, subject to 30-minute recall to consider proposed legislation or any other avenue to a settlement.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has proposed a compulsory arbitration law for a binding settlement of up to three years. Union President P. L. Siemiller said talk of such a law is spurring a flood of telegrams from strikers proposing "a massive march on Washington." But he said he has no plans for such a protest march, at least for now.

Compulsory arbitration has been used only once in peacetime — in 1963 to avert a nationwide railroad strike.

The union is demanding wage increases of 53 cents per hour over the three-year period it wants covered by the contract. It also wants improved vacations, health benefits, pensions and a cost of living escalator wage clause, among other things.

Top-rated mechanics now get $3.52 an hour. The airlines' latest reported offer was 50 cents per hour for a 42-month contract.

On Capitol Hill, the Senate Labor Committee took up the Morse proposal three hours after it was introduced Monday.

But senators who talked of quick approval as they entered the closed session emerged to report instead the planned hearing.

It was Morse himself who offered the motion which called for a hearing instead of immediate action.

He did so only after it became clear that other committee members were reluctant to declare an emergency situation with no public evidence on the record.

"I think he wanted a solid committee behind him," one senator said. "And he couldn't get it without a hearing."

Nevertheless, committee members said Morse's formula for an end to the strike apparently has majority support.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., said he believes the Morse proposal will be the one chosen to halt the walkout.

A series of bills has been introduced to end the strike.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., proposed a compulsory arbitration measure similar to Dirksen's. But he told a report-

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Helen Huston was hired as an elementary teacher by the East Palestine Board of Education Monday night.

The board also accepted the resignation of Angela Caircon, first-grade teacher. The district still needs a first-grade instructor and an elementary teacher to complete the faculty for the 1966-67 term, officials said.

Bids will be opened at the next meeting Aug. 8 for supplies for school cafeterias.

Mrs. Eileen Luketic of Hookstown R. D. 1, driver of the second car, was in "fairly good" condition at Rochester General Hospital with fractures.

Marinas Visited By Park Officials

Three East Liverpool Park Commission officials and their wives inspected marinas along the Ohio River as far as Gallipolis over the weekend in line with planning for a marina project here.

On the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen, Mr. and Mrs. James Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walters. Owen is commission chairman, Allison, secretary, and Walters is park superintendent.

Marinas were visited at Steubenville, Marietta, Gallipolis and elsewhere along the river.

Tentative plans have been drawn for a marina on a four-acre public tract in the East End, estimated to cost some $20,000. Federal and state funds are available on a matching basis, but some $6,500 is needed for the local share.

Ann Sheridan Reports On Hollywood

Any movie star of the '30s is a fascinating walking history of Hollywood and its foibles, but not too many of them care to reminisce that far back.

Ann Sheridan doesn't mind being dated from that era and looks at those days with a salty mixture of joy and anger.

Hal Humphrey
Ann will be starring in her own TV series beginning Sept. 17, a comedy Western titled "Pistols 'n' Petticoats" on CBS.

SHE PORTRAYS Henrietta Hanks, a rock-'em-sock-'em type living on a ranch near Wretched, Colo., with her parents and a young pretty daughter and a handsome sheriff lurking in the background (that tall stuff on the horizon is corn, brother).

Asked if this would be her first experience in a Western, Ann replies, "You're kidding. I was in something called 'Wagon Wheels' in 1934 with Monte Blue, Gail Patrick and Randolph Scott. I think I must have done some others when I was just a stock girl, but I don't remember them."

Ann currently is pressuring her producers at Universal City to buy her a $12,000 Tennessee walking horse ("It's like sitting in a rocking chair"), because she thinks it's downright silly to be seen in a Western without a horse.

BUT NO vice president at Universal is likely to put in a voucher for a horse until that first rating is in on the show. Even if it's a high rating, Ann may have to settle for a $75 plug.

After "Wagon Wheels" Ann was signed by Warner Bros., but, like Barbara Stanwyck and Bette Davis, she was on suspension more often than in a movie. That was the price they paid for refusing to be put in every potboiler Warner's turned out.

It was Walter Winchell who inadvertently gave Ann her first break when he referred to her in his Broadway column as "the Oomph Girl," a term which embarrassed her until she got some fatherly advice from Paul Muni, another Warner contractee at the time.

"MUNI TOLD ME I should use 'Oomph Girl' to further my career, so I let the publicity department go ahead with a contest and the works," recalls Ann. "It got me a loan-out for a picture at U-I with Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds and Ava Gardner."

"I had only five scenes in it, but the director, John Stahl, strung them all together and sent a print over to Warner after calling him and saying, 'I've got a find for you, and she's in your own studio.'

"Well, that got me a role in 'Angels With Dirty Faces' with Pat O'Brien and James Cagney and a lot more from that time on."

It did not end Ann's suspensions at Warner's, and finally she paid $35,000 to buy up that final six months of her contract. The price didn't seem too much, since she was offered "I Was a Male War Bride" at 20th Century-Fox with Cary Grant.

"WHAT REALLY burned me was that Stanwyck was given her freedom from Warner's right afterward without paying a cent," says Ann.

Her triumph in "I Was a Male War Bride" took place in 1949, and soon after that Ann took up residence in Mexico, her picture work ("I just loved Mexico then"). By that time she had appeared in more than 200 movies.

During the '50s Ann had roles in most of TV's big dramatic shows ("Climax," "Playhouse 90," "Steel Hour"), and 12 years ago she made a TV pilot in which she played a public relations gal for the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas. It didn't sell, she says, because sponsors didn't like the Vegas background for selling their products.

LAST SEASON Ann took the role of Katherine Corning in NBC's daytime serial, "Another World," for a few months, then got the script for "Pistols 'n' Petticoats" and found it "mad, foolish and crazy."

She closed up her apartment in New York and headed west to discover her old costar, Ronald Reagan (from "King's Row"), was running for governor of California.

"That really surprised me," says Ann. "I remember Ronnie's telling all of us not to join TV because it was the enemy of the movies, and the next thing I knew he was on 'Theater' with his contact lenses reading commercials."

Mathematics Course Set Here By Geneva

A Geneva College post session in Mathematics 110, Basic Structure Of Numerical Systems (Functional Mathematics), will be held Aug. 8-26 at East Liverpool High School. Mrs. Edna Brown, representative, announced today.

The classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. until noon, with Mrs. Lena Reno the teacher.

Two brothers from Newell, who have chosen to make the Army Air Force their career, had an opportunity to spend some time together the past month after not having seen one another for 10 years.

They are Staff Sgt. Gerald May and Sgt. Maj. William May, who have been visiting relatives and friends of the area, including their mother, Mrs. Iva May of Lincoln Ave., Newell.

Because of their service commitments and responsibilities they had been unable to get together the last 10 years.

Gerald, his wife, Dorothy, and son, Jerry, also have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Loretta Kiszczak of Florida Ave., Chester. They returned to San Antonio, Tex., Monday.

The William Mays and children, Mike, Lynn and Kathy, left today for Omaha, Neb. They also visited with Mrs. May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Semian of Washington St., Newell.

Gerald has been in the service for 15 years and his brother William for more than 10. William plans to retire in February 1967.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

TV Viewing Takes Up Reading Time

There has never been a time when so many persons in the United States bought books or borrowed books from the public library.

There has never been a time when so many had new papers and magazines in their home. Of course, there was never a time when Dr. Garry Myers there were so many of us living in the United States. We do not know that increased circulation of books and magazines and newspapers means a comparable increase in reading of them. One can find no proof that the average person is reading very much or reading more than the average person read 20 or 30 years ago.

There seems to be evidence that the average person watched TV more than he did some years ago. When a person is watching TV he is not reading.

ACCORDING to the TV Guide, the average family in the U. S. has the TV set on six hours a day and presumably at the time many members of the family might be most likely otherwise to read. Among the most avid watchers of TV are children from 2 to 10 and up.

Are more and more families in our nation growing more and more illiterate? Will we become an illiterate nation? Imagine what might happen to the level of education in our nation if the average family read for six hours a day or even for three hours a day, during periods of TV silence.

TV is here to stay and not much reading matter can compete with it for interest - pull for children and adults. Often what young children like most on TV is of lowest educational value.

Drag Race Law May Face Test After Sentence

CLEVELAND (AP) — The sentencing of one of two men convicted of drag racing that led to a traffic fatality may lead to a challenge of the constitutionality of Ohio's drag racing law.

Sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield was Robert J. Smigel, 22, Cleveland.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Herbert R. Whitling, who sentenced Smigel Monday, said Smigel had a record of six traffic violations in 1964. Smigel was accused of drag racing with Phillip C. Atherton, 27, Brook Park. Atherton, who had a record of only one minor traffic offense, was sentenced to six months in the Warrensville Workhouse.

The two men are accused of drag racing in Garfield Heights May 9, 1965, when their autos collided into a car, killing Joseph T. Sanka, 66.

Bond for the Atherton and Smigel was continued at $2,500 pending an appeal.

Defense lawyers said they would challenge the constitutionality of Ohio's drag racing law.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are expecting our first child in a few months.

When I told my mother-in-law she said, "Wonderful, but I want to tell you in advance, so there won't be any hurt feelings later, that it is impossible for a mother to feel as close to her son's children as to her daughter's. You may not be able to understand this now, but you will understand it when you are a grandmother."

What do you make of my mother-in-law's remark?—BAFFLED P. G. LADY.

Dear Lady: Not a bloomin' thing, honey. Your mother-in-law is speaking strictly for herself. If you don't believe me, read Willie Snow Ethridge's hilarious book, "I Just Happen To Have Some Pictures."

I've seen grannies who are indifferent to their daughter's children and are nutty over their son's little ones. And then I've seen it work just the other way, too. It was adorable of your mother-in-law to put you on notice, however. Wait and see. I'll bet she'll be goofy over your wee one.

Who's Taking Care?

Dear Ann: There are three daughters and two sons in our family. Sister Sally has taken advantage of our widowed mother all of her life. We are all married, with children, except this lazy, selfish Sally who is divorced.

When Sally married Jim 20 years ago, she borrowed a small fortune from mother for a down payment on a new home and expensive furnishings. She then invited mother to live with her and Jim. Sally and Jim both worked and mother was the cook, maid, and laundress.

When mom went away for a weekend to visit a sister she'd return to find every dish and pot in the kitchen sink and all the housework waiting.

Sally and Jim were divorced five years ago but Sally continued to live in the fancy house and mom continued to be her maid. Last week Sally announced she has "taken care of" mom long enough and now she wants one of us to take her in. The truth is that mom has been taking care of Sally all these years—and without a dime in wages.

What can we say to this miserable daughter to put her in her place?—DISGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: Save your pipes. You'll never get through to her. Sally sees the picture in an entirely different light.

How sad that none of you foresaw what would happen to your mother. Now, of course, one of you must take her and my guess is it'll be you.

Remember, please, while you're raking Sally over the coals, that your mother is not completely blameless. People who allow themselves to be abused and imposed on are always partners in the crime.

Maid Of Honor

Dear Ann: A few years ago I was the maid of honor for a friend who was in her 50s. I will call her Nola.

I married several months ago and asked my dearest friend to be my maid of honor. I sent a wedding invitation to Nola and her husband. The invitation was ignored.

A few weeks ago I ran into Nola and she said, "I want to tell you to your face that you hurt me deeply by not asking me to be your maid of honor. It was your duty since I honored you when I was married."

Is she right?—S.S.

Dear S.S.: She is wrong. Although friends often exchange the "honor," you were under no obligation to do so. Inviting her as a guest was sufficient.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Newborn babies seem to like close quarters when they sleep, and may not adjust right away to the larger crib on arrival home from the hospital.

We did not have a bassinet or a buggy but my husband came up with this gem of an idea.

We did have a little plastic bathtub for the baby. All we did was pad it well with folded baby blankets, and this was our sweetie's bassinet for a couple of weeks!

It wasn't two different from the little baby beds used in the hospital nursery.

This also enabled us to keep the baby in our bedroom close to us for the first two weeks.

MRS. CRAIN.

Remember this hint, all of you mothers-to-be, especially if you are on a tight budget.

The little plastic bathtub can be carried from room to room, and is easily sterilized, too.

Our thanks to this sweet mother who took the time to write.

If any of you have a hint about YOUR BABY you would like to share with others, do write to us. We would love to hear from you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When seasoning with oleo or butter, and you empty your butter dish, spoon some of the hot food onto the dish to melt what remains, and pour into your food. Then wash the dish.

It's a saving, and you don't have to scrape the remains off the dish.

D.V.T.

DEAR HELOISE: I wash baby's rubber pants by hand because I think machine washing makes them brittle and they don't last as long.

So I keep a refillable plastic squeeze bottle of mild dishwashing liquid handy and use it when washing them.

Also, you'll find yourself using the squeeze bottle of liquid for handwashing your dainties.

MRS. EARL THOMPSON.

DEAR HELOISE: How in the world do you get the remaining ice cubes out of an ice tray after you pull the release handle and dump out the loose ice cubes?

Don't tell me I have to buy an ice pick!

JERALD.

Council Eyes Levy Issues At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A resolution to place a half - mill levy on the November ballot for establishing play areas in the village was approved by Council Monday night when plans also were made for a levy to replace old fire hydrants.

The levy would provide funds for improving a recreation area in the East End along with new playlots in the center of the community and in the West End. It would be for four years.

Legislation also was ordered for a 1-mill levy for two years to provide for replacing of fire hydrants. A 2-mill levy for such purposes will expire Jan. 1.

Two resolutions connected with plans for a new sewage disposal system were discussed, but were tabled until cost estimates can be obtained.

The resolutions concerned two proposals in which the new countywide sewage and water district would aid in the project — one by constructing the plant, with the village building the interceptor sewers, and the other with the county constructing both.

Mayor Stanley Fitch reported a meeting has been arranged Friday night with representatives of the Rose Excavating Co. of Lisbon, low bidder on the planned razing of the former village hall turned out March 19. Rose bid $3,895 for the demolition.

Fitch also reported on an advisory concerning federal aid for construction of a municipal building. However, at present, Council is considering purchase of the former VFW Post Home on W. Main St. for a village hall.

Various street repair matters were discussed and referred to Street Foreman Pete Growall. Discussion was held on a $220 used mower purchased from the Ohio Highway Department in a surplus sale last week.

Council approved the hiring of Robert Bentley of Boale's Hill Rd. to aid the street and water departments in replacing fire hydrants Wednesday.

The report of Police Chief Ray Keister for June 29-July 25 showed 1,400 miles patrolled, nine arrests made and a dog destroyed.

The safety committee and the mayor will meet tonight to discuss various police matters.

Bills totaling $1,432 were paid. The next meeting will be Aug. 8.

Democratic Chairmen Hear Committee Head

COLUMBIANA — Democratic chairmen from counties in the 18th and 16th congressional districts met Monday night at Heck's Restaurant.

Eugene O'Grady of Columbus, executive director of the committee, was the speaker.

Present in addition to the chairmen were candidates for the legislature, both Senate and House, plus district committeemen and committeewomen.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, Columbiana County chairman, told the group he was disturbed by press reports some people want to bring Robert Kennedy to Ohio as a fundraising dinner speaker rather than President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Gosney said the President carried Ohio by more than 1,000,000 votes and the state should do as Columbiana County is doing — "back the President 100 per cent."

Gosney and Roy Allen of Columbiana County "will be a part of the state" if Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. of Toledo is elected governor and will receive "our share of money for highways and higher education."

"We were assured we would receive much needed attention," Gosney said.

2 Canton Teen-Agers Seek Boys, Girls Nations Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two teen-agers from Canton, Ohio, put their political machinery in gear for tonight's elections where they will bid for top posts at Boys and Girls Nations.

Nominees were selected Monday night with Martha Cynthia Wasson emerging as the Nationalist Party's candidate for president of Girls Nation while John P. Arigoni was the Federalists Party's choice for Boys Nation vice president.

The boys convened at the University of Maryland in nearby College Park and the girls at American University here for Monday night's conventions, part of the American Legion-sponsored week-long program of events designed to show them the workings of the federal government.

Martha has teamed up with Janet Moses of Appomattox, Va., who is the Nationalist Party's vice-presidential candidate, while at Boys Nation, John is running on the ticket of R. Peter Henschel of Wauwatosa, Wis., Federalist presidential hopeful.

The Ohioan and her running mate go into the elections against Girls Nation Federalist Party candidates, Jan Crenshaw, Meridian, Miss., president and Wendy Sherman, Baltimore, vice president.

The Nationalist Party at Boys Nation is sending Gray H. Miller of Houston, Tex., and Daniel J. Pagnano of Newton, Mass., presidential and vice presidential hopefuls against federalists Henschel and Arigoni.

Randall C. Carlisle, Wooster, Ohio, lost out in his bid Monday night to become the Nationalist Party's candidate for president of Boys Nation.

There are 100 girls and 98 boys on hand for the sessions with the American Legion Auxiliary sponsoring the girls.

Heavy damage to a 1962 sedan owned by Clarence L. Baker of 904 Lisbon St. was discovered at 6:35 a. m. today by Patrolman R. J. Brookes.

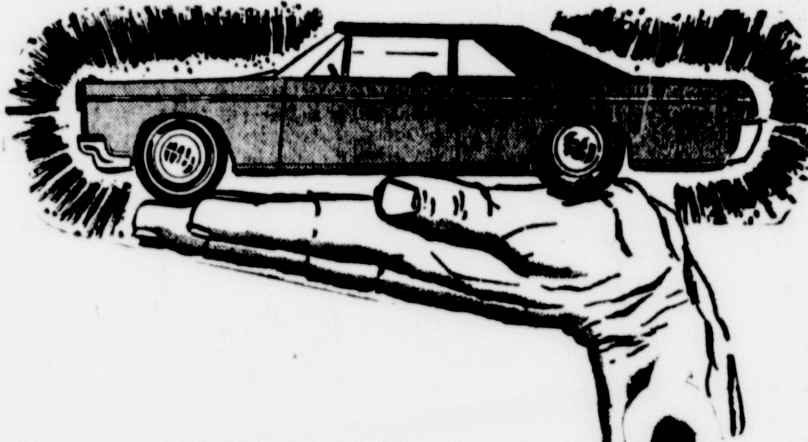

The officer said the rear window was shattered and two holes knocked in it, apparently with half a brick that was found inside the vehicle. The fabric on the back of the front seat also was torn, the officer reported.

Ray Grafton of Box 271 reported to police Monday at midnight that the radio antenna on his car had been broken while parked on Mulberry St.

Grafton said he was eating in a restaurant and when he returned to his car he found a man lying across the front fender. After the man left, the damage to the antenna was discovered.

Clyde Lambright of 609 College St. reported to police Monday at 9 a. m. that the antenna on his car was broken off Sunday night or early Monday morning while parked on College St.

Senate Seeks To Complete Debate On Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speeding up its schedule, the Senate aims for completion of its foreign aid debate today — with Viet Nam seldom far from the surface.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called senators in two hours early to try to finish action on the measure and clear the deck for other legislation.

Still pending was an amendment by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to set up a committee to suggest ways of revamping the aid program and quiet some of the criticism that resulted in some sharp pruning of the program in the Senate this year.

President Johnson requested $2.5 billion in economic aid, but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee trimmed this by $117 million and Senate votes have cut another $292 million.

A separate measure to be considered later calls for $892 million in military assistance. The House combined the economic and military aid authorizations in approving the administration's foreign aid proposals earlier.

The Senate agreed Monday to authorize the Alliance for Progress program for two years. The administration had asked a five-year authorization for the entire program, but the Senate has voted to limit other sections to a single year.

Kennedy's amendment to create a committee to study the aid program already has triggered clashes between the New York Democrat and Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Kennedy said "senators who feel that it is worthwhile making that effort 12,500 miles away" in Viet Nam also should feel it worthwhile to make the lesser effort entailed in economic assistance.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was willing to accept Kennedy's proposal. He noted, however, that the House had rejected the study plan when the Senate asked for it last year, but said the House might accept it this year.

Director Named For React Team

William McCarrell of Hookstown R. D. 1 was appointed district director of the React Emergency team during a meeting of the Penova Citizens Band Radio Club Saturday night at the clubhouse on Route 45.

It was pointed out a person does not have to be a member of the club to join the React unit, but they must have a CB radio.

Anyone interested in joining is to contact, McCarrell.

The club voted to proceed with construction of new restrooms at the clubhouse.

Francis Wolf resigned as vice president and Leo Fiorillo was appointed to fill the vacancy. Thomas Mushwick of East Liverpool was accepted as a new member.

Bill Buriss and the Green Valley Boys will hold square dances every two weeks starting in September.

Only one meeting a month will be held during August and September, with the next Aug. 20.

Richard Green, president, conducted business.

Christmas Tree Growers To Meet

LISBON — Northeast Ohio Christmas Tree Growers will hold a twilight meeting at 7 Thursday at the James Pendry farm east of here.

Gordon Anderson, manager of Creawood Farms at Kirtland and past president of the state association, will lead discussions and answer questions.

The program will include inspection of Pendry's plantings and a tour of Walter Burbick's tree plantation east of Elkhart.

Joe D. Pittman, Columbiana County extension agent for agriculture, said growers will see weed control through herbicides, tree shearing and plantings of spruce, fir, white pine and red pine. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

3 Young Men Killed

In Pennsylvania Crash
BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — An auto went out of control and smashed against a tree near Bedford early today, killing three young men.

State police identified the victims as Conny Lee Herschberger, 18, of Bedford R. D. 2; Gary Deckard, 18, of Alum Bank, Bedford County; and Kenneth Vaughn of Bedford R.D. 2.

The crash happened on Route 56 about seven miles northwest of Bedford.

Herschberger and Vaughn were pronounced dead at the scene. Deckard died two hours later in Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

2 Motorists Fined, Jailed

A Newell motorist was fined a total of $250 and costs and sentenced to jail on two traffic violations and a city man was fined for being in physical control of a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol during hearings this morning in Municipal Court before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Gail Britton of Washington St., Newell, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunk driving and $50 and costs and three days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident.

Britton pleaded guilty to both charges. The jail sentences are to be served concurrently.

Britton was cited July 9 following an accident on Jackson St. at Summit Ln. His trial had been continued.

Jessie J. Flowers of 927 Fairview St., who had been charged with drunk driving, pleaded guilty to the charge of being in physical control of a car while drinking. He was fined $200 and costs.

Flowers was cited July 11 on W. 8th St. and had asked for a continuance to summon defense witnesses.

In other hearings, Jerry T. Westlake of 1702 Commerce St., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs for speeding. He pleaded guilty. Westlake was cited Monday at 10:05 p. m. on W. 8th St. for doing 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone by Patrolman Paul C. Blevins and Lt. K. H. Mooney.

John Wood of Cleveland, also cited Monday on W. 8th St. for speeding by Patrolman Charles A. Winters, forfeited a $22.50 bond when he failed to appear.

William E. Cox of Salineville R. D. 3 also forfeited bond when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of speeding. He was cited Sunday on W. 3rd St. by Patrolman David Mumaw for doing 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

William Irwin of Glenmoor was appointed St. Clair Township chief police constable by the township trustees at a meeting Monday night.

Trustees reviewed insurance coverage with Al Pierson of the Nationwide Insurance Co., and made plans to broaden coverage for the township garage and contents.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. was granted a street opening permit for Broad St. in Calcutta.

Bills totaling $2,630 were approved.

Stepien Fires 29 For Course Mark

Tom Stepien Jr., a promising 19-year-old golfer, shattered the Highland Golf course record Sunday.

Young Stepien established both a nine and 18-hole record while playing the Glenmoor course, according to Doug Capehart, owner of the Highland Club.

Stepien smashed the nine-hole record with a 29 and is shown above displaying his scorecard. His 34 on the first nine and recorded 29 on the second nine gave him 63 for the 18-hole record.

Par at Highland is 35 and Stepien's 29 bettered the previous course record which was shared by Floyd Stansbury and Mike Lucas who turned in 31's when par was 36 before several changes were made on the course.

During his round of 29, Stepien recorded an eagle on the par 5, No. 6 hole and turned in four birdies.

He was playing in a four-some which included John Stepien, Richard Schmidbaur and Andy Byers.

Stepien, who only has been playing for three years, has been flirting with records at other courses in the area and as an encore Monday night fired a two-under, 33, at Highland.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stepien Sr. of Annesley Rd.

Whitfield's Pair Gives Tribe Nod

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Whitfield's philosophy of hitting is strikingly simple.

"I just go up there and swing at anything that's moving," says the Cleveland first baseman.

Whitfield caught a pair of moving pitches Monday night and walloped his 17th and 18th home runs of the season leading the Indians to a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

His uncomplicated approach to the fine art of batting leaves Whitfield's teammates dazzled. "He's like Superman," says little Vic Davalillo. "He was born to hit," says outfielder Jim Landis. "I don't know anybody like him. There isn't a pitcher he can't hit."

Leon Wagner, no slouch with the bat himself, probably sums Whitfield up best. "He has no style," says Wagner. "He just hits."

His style was contagious

Dr. Laneve Wins In Club Golf Contest

Dr. J. J. Laneve scored 28 to win a selective nine hole golf contest Sunday at the Country Club.

Don Burbick finished second with 29 while Dr. Frank Bragg recorded 31 and J. T. Smith 32. The second division went to W. F. Porter with 31 while Dr. Rol and Stover finished with 32.

Saturday's par-birdie-eagle contest ended in a tie between H. M. Crossley and Dr. Laneve with 23 each. Dr. R. J. Kinsey scored 22 with Dr. H. F. Ban-against the Senators. After he broke a 3-3 tie with his seventh-inning homer off Mike McCormick, Joe Azcue tagged the next pitch for another homer.

Whitfield's second homer of the night, leading off the ninth inning, wrapped up Cleveland's scoring.

Whitfield and Azcue had three hits apiece as the Indians moved into third place in the American League, one game back of Detroit. Idle California slipped to fourth, one-half game back of the Indians.

Sonny Siebert, who no-hit the Senators last month, scattered nine hits including a two-run homer by Bob Saverine. Siebert went the distance for his 10th victory.

Baltimore, holding a commanding 12-game lead, entertains Cleveland tonight as the rest of the American League swings back into action. The Orioles will pitch Steve Barber against Gary Bell.

field and J. T. Smith finishing with 20.

Judge Sam Chertoff's 31 took honors in the second division while Porter recorded 30.

The annual father-son tournament is scheduled for Friday at 5 p. m. The tourney will be a nine-hole event with selective drives and alternate shots. A patio dinner will follow golf.

The mother-daughter tournament will be held Aug. 2 with dinner to follow golf.

Wednesday is the final day for qualifying for the ladies club championship.

A golf clinic will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. for children with club pro Andy Petrick in charge.

Marichal Stops Bucs, 2-1; Dodgers Only 1½ Back

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some of his more zealous fans at home say if he wanted to run, Juan Marichal could be elected president of the Dominican Republic.

Marichal, however, wouldn't win any popularity contest in the National League, especially with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But then, neither would Herman Franks.

Franks and Marichal teamed up Monday and sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the first-place Pirates. The triumph moved the Giants to within two percentage points of the lead.

Marichal, the ace right-hander of the league, originally was scheduled to pitch against Philadelphia Sunday. But Giant Manager Franks decided to save him for the opener of the crucial three-game series with Pittsburgh.

Thus, the 28-year-old Dominican rested four days instead of three. The change didn't hurt him.

He stopped the Pirates on six hits, halted Roberto Clemente's hitting streak at 17 games, didn't walk anyone and scored the eventual deciding run after an alert bit of base running.

Taken together, that gave Marichal his 16th victory against four defeats, his 16th complete game in 23 starts and an earned run average of 1.95.

Marichal also extended his walkless streak to none in the last 22 innings and now is averaging only one walk per game.

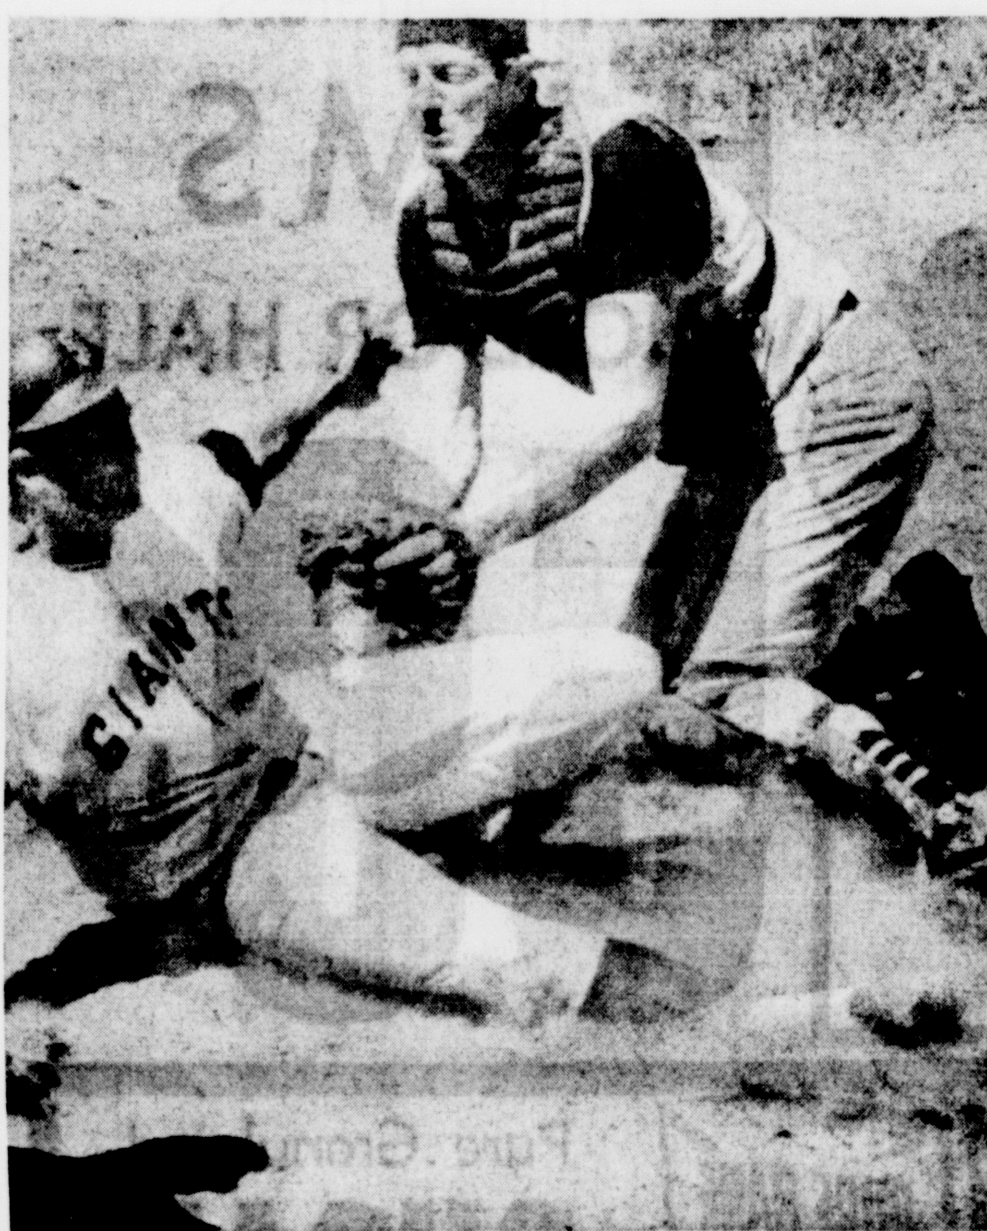

A guy can't become very popular with that kind of record.

In the only other NL games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-3 and New York trimmed Houston 6-4.

The Giants handed rookie Woody Fryman his fifth defeat against eight victories. They did it by scoring two runs in the third inning.

Ollie Brown singled and beat Fryman's throw to second on Marichal's sacrifice bunt.

Tito Fuentes followed with a single, driving in Brown, and when Fryman, backing up the plate, tried to get Fuentes coming back to first, Marichal darted for third and made it. He then came home as Hal Lanier grounded into a double play.

The third-place Dodgers moved to within 1½ games of the top by breaking a 3-3 tie with a three-run rally in the eighth. Al Ferrara singled across the first run, Dick Stuart the second and the third came across on Jim Gilliam's ground-

er. Stuart earlier homered for Los Angeles while Bill White and John Briggs connected for Philadelphia.

Pitcher Dennis Ribant stroked a two-run single that climaxed a four-run outburst in the eighth inning and gave New York enough runs for its record fifth straight victory over Houston.

The Astros rallied for two runs in the bottom of the eighth with the help of a dropped fly ball by Billy Murphy and one in the ninth on Sonny Jackson's run-scoring single, but that's as close as they could come.

Americans Blank Canton; Nationals Rout Foe

If you pick an East Liverpool team to win the District Little League championship you can't go wrong. The District championship game set for Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Thompson Park will be an all-East Liverpool final after the city's American Division All-Stars blanked Canton Timken 6-0 at Thompson Park Monday and the National League All-Stars rolled to an 11-2 victory over the Massillon Americans at Massillon.

EL Americans 6, Canton 0

The EL Americans was paced by the hitting and relief pitching of Rick Lockhart who hammered two home runs and a single to lead an eight-hit attack. Jim Tipton, the winning pitcher, hurled shutout ball for four innings when Lockhart appeared and blanked Canton over the last three frames. The two

Word 'Bomb' Backfires On Voice Of Bucs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bob Prince, the voice of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the word "bomb" while boarding a plane for San Francisco and had to answer the questions of police and FBI agents while the team flew on without him.

Prince said he told a stewardess while boarding in Dallas Sunday that he wanted to hold a transistor tape recorder rather than put it on the luggage rack.

"I told her I would handle it as carefully as I would a bomb," said Prince. "Now that's what I said."

"But she understood me to say I had a bomb," he explained. "I was taken off the plane, held by police and the FBI was called."

Prince was finally released and arrived in San Francisco Monday morning.

The Pirates were traveling from Houston, where they played the Astros, and stopped in Dallas to change planes.

The record distance for a woman to throw a two-pound rolling pin is 135 feet 8 inches, set by Anita Jenkins of Oklahoma in 1965.

Talbot, Frederick and Gregory scored three runs each while Aaron and Abrams smacked doubles in the nine-hit attack. Muzi was the losing pitcher. Both Massillon runs came on roundtrippers by Latham and Muzi.

Stengel Rolls 'Em In The Ailes
As He & Ted Enter Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)— Casey Stengel paused for a deep breath while Ted Williams leaned over to whisper in Joe Cronin's ear and laughed.

"I once hit against Walter Johnson," Stengel started up again while the record crowd of 6,000 soaked up every word at Cooper Park, behind the Hall of Fame building.

Stengel, 75, and Williams, 47, were being formally inducted

Midland, Aliquippa
Battle To 4-4 Tie

Midland Post 481 and Aliquippa battled to a 4-4 tie in the opening game of the Beaver County Legion League playoffs Monday at Midland. The game had to be called after six innings due to darkness and will be replayed to-day at 6 p.m. at Crucible Field.

into the Hall Monday and this quaint, historic community was bulging at the seams.

"It was after the season," Stengel went on. "I was hitting about third or fourth in the National League and thought I was some hitter. They had a special homecoming day for Johnson at Coffeyville (Kan.). They came out in buggies to watch Johnson pitch a 1-0 shutout.

"The next morning the Kansas City Star story read 'Casey Stengel's inability to hit in the pinches lost the game.' This is my home town, you know, I was supposed to be quite an athlete — football and basketball player.

"There was only one fella got on base all day — Pete Kilduff. So I told him 'You're to blame for the whole thing; if you hadn't got on base, I couldn't have failed to hit in the pinches.'"

The laughter rolled over the grassy plain and spilled into the shade trees on the fringes where some lucky people huddled to beat the heat.

Stengel's oration hit all the stops. He opened with Babe Ruth and worked his way through Grover Cleveland Alexander, Johnson, Joe McCarthy, Bill Terry, Joe Cronin, Joe Engel ("He'd trade a dog for a dog") and wound up with Bill Dickey, Yogi Berra, Williams and the Mets.

"That Williams would stare at a pitcher when he was warming up and he already had attacked that man. He was the most aggressive hitter I ever saw," Casey said. "After Bobby Doerr left the Red Sox, I told my Yankee pitchers never to throw the ball over the plate to Mr. Williams. We tried to get him to go for the ball but his judgment standing sideways was better than the umpires standing straight."

Williams, wearing a neat white sport shirt, buttoned at the neck but with no tie, impressed the assemblage with his fine talk. He gently chided the writers with whom he often feuded and found time to thank his coach on the San Diego playgrounds, his school coach and managers under whom he played in the majors and minors.

He also singled out the late Eddie Collins, Hall of Famer, and owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox for special attention.

Ted put in a pitch for future Hall of Fame membership for Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson "as a symbol of the great Negro players that are not here only because they were not given a chance."

Williams obviously was impressed by the occasion, as was Stengel. Ted couldn't resist a jab at the press.

"I guess every player thinks about going into the Hall of Fame," he said. "... I find it difficult to say what is really in my heart, but I know it's the greatest thrill of my life.

"I received 280 odd votes (282 of a possible 302) from the writers. I know I didn't have 280 close friends among the writers. I know they voted for me because they felt in their minds, and some in their hearts, that I rated it and I want to say to them 'thank you.' Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Minnesota Twins 7-5 in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game at Doubleday Field.

CAB Investigators Seek
Clues In Death Of Lema

LANSING, Ill. (AP)— A Civil Aeronautics Board investigative team searched today for new clues to the crash of a private plane that killed world golfing star Tony Lema, his wife and two other persons.

George Green, CAB field superintendent, said investigators were looking into the possibility of engine failure as the cause of the crash.

The twin-engine craft was en route to the Chicago-Hammond Airport from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had just completed play in the PGA tourney.

The pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., and the copilot, Dr. George Bard, 41, of Kankakee, Ill., also died when the small plane plunged into the ground at a golf course and burst into flames.

"We are going to look into reports from several sources," Green said Monday, "that there was trouble in the power system (engines). We don't have a weather problem or a darkness problem. So investigation may be made somewhat easier than some because we have a few things we can eliminate."

Mullen said the plane made a swing around the field, with no indication of trouble, but one or both engines cut out as it glided low over the nearby golf course, then started briefly.

When the engines died the second time, the plane descended, swerved to avoid a group of people, struck the ground and bounded into the edge of lagoon where it exploded in flames.

The bodies of the Lemas were sent to their home town, San Leandro, Calif.

In Games Ceremony
KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)— Athletes from nine nations participated in a colorful flag-raising ceremony today to mark the forthcoming Commonwealth Games in Jamaica.

Attention
Earth People!
We have just received
another message
from Howard Benedict.

Howard Benedict at Cape Kennedy, standing in front of a giant missile tracking device, is wearing the splash suit required of all personnel in the launching area.

Every time something takes place or takes off from Cape Kennedy, we hear about it from Howard Benedict. And so do you.

Benedict is the chief aerospace writer for The Associated Press, and one of the chief reasons why our reports of the space program, from the first Alan Shepard flight in the Freedom 7 to the latest space feat, have been so complete and so authoritative.

In seven years, Benedict has witnessed more than 1200 countdowns and spent countless hours with every expert in the space program. He's as much up on the subject as anyone can be who hasn't been up in space.

Howard Benedict, of course, is just one of the many skilled AP reporters, writers, researchers and photographers covering the field. There are dozens of them, and they're all there just to make sure that we get all the news from space. Just so we can get it all to the earth people, our readers.

Everything that's going on, goes into our newspaper. That's why you get so much out of it.

Several rookies were cut by professional football clubs; several Chicago Bears were fined for not cutting — extra weight — and the Detroit Lions weren't being cut, they were walking away.

One of the biggest cuts Monday was George Sutor, a 6-foot-7, former LaSalle basketball player, who was released by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

On the other end of the scale was 5-foot-10 Ken Lucas, former University of Pittsburgh quarterback, who was released by the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers because he had trouble seeing over big, on-rushing linemen.

Meanwhile, in the camp of the Chicago Bears, 12 players were fined $50 daily for being overweight and threatened with $200 fines starting next Sunday if they are not at playing weight.

"We are not making the progress expected at this stage of training camp," said Owner-Coach George Halas, one of the NFL's founders. "We are being held back principally by 12 overweight players. They are being fined $50 a day from July 22, but that is small consolation to the coaches."

The 12 players were not named.

Things were not well in the camp of the NFL Lions, either. Flanker Pat Studstill walked out of camp in a salary dispute, joining three other unsigned players who have refused to participate in practice sessions.

They are defensive end Darris McCord, offensive guard John Gordy and offensive tackle Ted Karris. Each is being fined $100 a day for missing training.

Ron Kramer and Bruce Mahler also still are unsigned by the Lions, but they have been taking part in drills.

The Washington Redskins waived seven players, but two of them, defensive halfback Hal Seymour of Florida and halfback Tom Michel, were designated as injured and will remain club property.

The five given regular waivers included tackle Mike Bundra, linebackers Al Watershead of West Texas State and Dick Fugere of Cincinnati, flanker Dick Griesheim of Illinois Teachers and defensive back Dave Bowden of Fort Valley, Ga. State.

The only American Football League club reporting cuts was San Diego. The Chargers released place kicker Oscar Benetto, a soccer star at the University of Argentina, and end Jerome Bell from Central Oklahoma.

Civil Service Group

Gets New President

LISBON — The Columbiana County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association has announced the election of August Corso Jr. of Salem as president, succeeding Duane Kilmer of East Liverpool, who resigned because of a change in his work schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Widger entertained the chapter at a wiener roast recently at their summer home at Guilford Lake. Widger is secretary of the association.

The next meeting will be Aug. 15 at 8 p. m. in the Village Hall here.

Doby Given Post

NEWARK N.J. (AP) — Larry Doby, former hard-hitting outfielder with the Cleveland Indians, was appointed an investigator Monday in the Essex County, N.J., prosecutor's traffic safety program. Doby, 41, will be paid $8,800 a year as a specialist in teen-age safety.

Will Defend Title

LONDON (AP) — Emile Griffith of New York will defend his world middleweight boxing title against Nigeria's Dick Tiger in London Nov. 22, promoter Jack Solomons announced today.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years."

"I couldn't turn down this opportunity," he added.

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $60,000 annually.

AFL Has New

President As

Davis Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Woodard has taken over as the new president of the American Football League, succeeding Al Davis.

The 55-year-old Woodard, a native of Tacoma, Wash., stepped into the shoes of his old boss, Joe Foss, when the 37-year-old Davis quit Monday in a move that had been long rumored. Davis had replaced Foss as commissioner last April 6.

Davis' resignation had been expected since the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, effective in 1970. Davis had opposed the merger.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years."

"I couldn't turn down this opportunity," he added.

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $60,000 annually.

A Junior Editors Quiz About MERMAIDS

QUESTION: Were there really such things as mermaids?

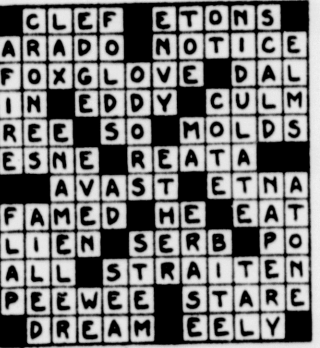

ANSWER: The old sailing ships were very slow. Voyages were often of long duration, and old time seamen had plenty of time to be impressed with the mystery of the sea and to imagine things, many of which had no substance in fact. One legend concerned mermaids, which the sailors' imaginations pictured as graceful beings, half girl and half fish. They were supposed to sit on sand or rock, combing their long golden hair and attracting mortal men by their singing. In Greek mythology, there were three sea nymphs called the Sirens who also attracted passing ships by their singing. If one came too close to a mermaid, the legend said, she would slip a magical cap over your head and you would have to live in the sea with her thereafter. There are certain sea animals which may have suggested the mermaid idea to imaginative seamen. One is the seal, with a head somewhat resembling that of a human being. Another, the dugong, has a habit of standing upright in shallow water which makes it look like a human, if seen from a long way off.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, giving the mermaids their golden yellow hair. Their fishes' tails might be sea green.

Phyllis Wagner of Evansville, Minn., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
